EMPOWERING THROUGH TRAINING

Our thrust for comprehensive training and delivery of economic empowerment by promoting self-reliance continued in the second quarter of 2024.

We had O'rgran, a respected skills imparting initiative, coming through for parents of children under the educational care of Tamiranashe Trust.

As we have always said, we believe

Some of the women who underwent O'rgran's training on poultry

This truck continued to be a source of empowering driver training for many that breaking the cycle of poverty does not just start and end with the education of children, but also the skills empowerment of their parents.

O'rgran trained the parents on the basics of poultry farming, a welcome session for parents who might soon embark on a 3000-bird project.

Weighing in with it's own punch for the training facet was our driving school.

A source of reference for the many women who are now proud licenced drivers, having given them their first steps to that achievement, Tamiranashe Driving School has not let up. Many other aspiring drivers took their lessons too.

CONQUERING THE HEIGHTS OF MOUNT CARMEL!

The excitement was palpable throughout as students toured the site of our new Tamiranashe Mount Carmel Boarding School recently.

The school represents a major milestone for us in our drive to give quality education to our community's underprivileged.

Soon, boarding school is no longer a preserve of children from rich families. Levelling the field will ensure that even those from disadvantaged backgrounds get the best learning environment. We believe that approach will go a long way in breaking the cycle of economic poverty.

We will always be grateful to partner organisations like the Kanthari Foundation, which has committed to providing scholarships for Tamiranashe Mount Carmel Boarding School students.

MOTHER OF INTERACTION: APPRECIATING OUR VISIONARY

That is the best way we can describe our founder and visionary, Nancy Mbaura.

She has not allowed the huge workload of driving forward the Tamiranashe vision hamper her accessibility to all.

In the just ended quarter, she mixed and mingled with students, parents and other stakeholders, always her preferred method, alongside a hands-on approach to everything, for ensuring everyone understands the importance of taking part.

Keep it up, mom!

We are safe in your direction.
